RUSSIA SPURNS INDIA TRUCE PLAN

Eisenhower Names Two More Top Aides

Ezra Benson
To Head Dept.
Of Agriculture

Adams To Be White House Assistant

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Driving at top speed, President-elect Eisenhower chose Ezra Taft Benson of Utah as his secretary of agriculture today and then named Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire as his White House assistant in the new GOP administration.

The general thrust moved with history-making swiftness to form the top echelon of his administration before going to Korea in an effort to find a key to peace in that unhappy land.

By giving Benson the nod to succeed President Truman's secretary of agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, Eisenhower carried out a campaign pledge to the nation's farmers that he would bring farm leaders into government to help work out new farm programs while improving old ones.

Six Cabinet Posts Filled

Benson's appointment was the sixth cabinet post to be filled by Eisenhower in five days. He now has named his secretaries of state (John Foster Dulles); defense (Charles E. Wilson of Detroit); treasury (George M. Humphrey of Cleveland); interior (Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon); agriculture (Benson); and his attorney general (Herbert Brownell of New York City).

Benson was the second man who favored the nomination of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Eisenhower's chief GOP convention opponent, to be placed in the cabinet. The other was Humphrey.

The three cabinet posts remaining are secretaries of labor and commerce and postmaster general.

Benson Mormon Leader

Benson is a 53-year-old Mormon church leader, youth leader, and farm marketing specialist who has worked with farmers and farm problems for years. He told reporters he never had met Eisenhower before today but was in agreement with his farm policy statements.

Adams, who managed the Eisenhower presidential campaign, will go into a job that is expected to carry more influence and prestige than any president has heretofore given to an assistant. The person most nearly his opposite in the Truman administration is John R. Steelman.

Before announcing his new appointments through Press Secretary James Hagerty, Gen. Eisenhower paid a visit to the United Nations General Assembly building and conferred with Sen. Richard M. Nixon, vice presidential-elect. He talked privately with U. S. Secretary General Trygve Lie and Lester Pearson of Canada, president of the General Assembly, for 20 minutes.

Taft Approves
Ike's Choices

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today he didn't recommend any of the first four Cabinet appointments made by President-elect Eisenhower, but that he doesn't object to any of them.

"I will have no difficulty cooperating with any of the people appointed," Taft told a press conference.

He referred to John Foster Dulles, named secretary of state; Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense; James M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury; and Herbert Brownell, attorney general. Taft had not learned of the appointment of Ezra Taft Benson as secretary of agriculture at the time the press conference was held.

The senator said that while he didn't recommend appointment of Humphrey, Cleveland industrialist, as secretary of the treasury, "that doesn't mean I wouldn't recommend him for a job."

Taft said he had recommended "some" Ohioans for Cabinet posts and other high level jobs. He was asked but wouldn't say whom he had recommended.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—A streetcar jumped the track, knocked down a tree and plunged across a sidewalk in North-east Washington today. Seven persons were hurt, none seriously.

Parole Board
Refuses To Give
Hiss Freedom

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Federal Parole Board today voted unanimously to reject Alger Hiss' bid for freedom.

The board ruled that Hiss, 48-year-old former State Department official, must remain behind prison bars until he completes his five-year sentence or until the board may decide to review his case favorably sometime in the indefinite future.

Board Chairman Dr. George C. Killinger said the board reached its decision "after a careful consideration of the official record." It would have required approval by three of the five board members to grant Hiss' request for parole.

Hiss was convicted on Jan. 25, 1950, on charges of lying under oath when he swore before a federal grand jury that he had never passed secret government documents to Whittaker Chambers, admitted courier for a prewar Soviet spy ring.

The one-time diplomatic adviser, who attended the Yalta Conference with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and helped in framing the United Nations charter, began serving his sentence on March 22, 1951.

He became eligible for parole last Friday after serving one-third of his five-year term at the Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Penitentiary.

Dr. Killinger, who interviewed Hiss at the prison 10 days ago, emphasized in a statement that the parole board voted "unanimously" to deny Hiss' application. The board acted on the basis of a report submitted by Dr. Killinger after his visit to Lewisburg.

Officials said that in considering parole requests, the board weighs the prisoner's behavior behind bars and also takes into account the length of his sentence in relation to the offense committed.

If Hiss continues to accumulate time off at the present rate, officials said, he will win full release without any action by the parole board on Nov. 27, 1954.

Russia Condemned

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 24 (AP)—The U. N. Assembly's Special Political Committee voted 46-5 today to condemn Russia and her satellites for failing to repatriate more than 13,000 children taken out of Greece by Red guerrillas during the 1948 civil war.

Anne Arundel Jury Frees
Artist In Waitress' Death

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 24 (AP)—Benjamin Brant Marshall today was found innocent of killing his Washington girl friend during a night of drinking in his tiny Southern Maryland living quarters.

An Anne Arundel County jury took only 21 minutes to clear the 47-year-old advertising artist of manslaughter.

The state had declined to press murder charges against Marshall in the death last Oct. 4 of Mrs. Ruth Lee Pohlman, 44-year-old waitress with whom he had kept company for years.

The all-male jury thus upheld a defense argument that "wild speculation" would be necessary to conclude the woman died of blows inflicted by Marshall.

Maybank Says
Truman May End Controls

Woods Resigns As
Price Stabilizer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Sen. Maybank (D-SC), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said tonight he had information President Truman is considering doing away with price and wage controls shortly by executive order.

The White House made no immediate comment.

Maybank's statement, made in a broadcast from Charleston, S. C., came a few hours after Tighe Woods had resigned as government price stabilizer.

Woods said he would rather quit than try to administer a "weak" price controls law.

"I think the law needs a thorough overhauling," he told a news conference.

Maybank, interviewed on a radio program, was asked: "Do you think Eisenhower and the Republicans will do away with price and wage controls?"

Has "Information"

Maybank answered: "I have information that the President is now considering doing away with price and wage controls."

"Do you mean by executive action?" a reporter asked.

Maybank answered, "Yes."

"Do you think it may come before Congress returns?"

"Yes," Maybank replied.

Woods said he had submitted his resignation to President Truman and asked that it become effective at the end of the month.

Woods, 42, has been price boss since Sept. 1 when he succeeded Ellis Arnall, former governor of Georgia. Before that he served as rent controller. Even if Woods had decided to stay on in the Office of Price Stabilization he would have been subject to replacement by the incoming Eisenhower administration.

Sees Direct Controls

Woods said he thought Congress would vote a new program of direct controls when the present law expires April 30. The present one was enacted last summer, several months before Woods took the OPS job.

"Congress should take out some of the special interest amendments and substitute for them some equality of sacrifice," he told his news conference. "I hope the Congress members will look at it from all sides so that every one should share an equal burden."

One special interest provision in the law, Woods said, is the Harrison amendment exempting fruits and vegetables from price control. This amendment became effective last July 1.

Pork Price Lids Suspended

Woods said an order earlier today removing wholesale price ceilings on pork.

He also authorized a relaxation of restrictions on new slaughterers of livestock, permitting them to enter the trade merely by registering with the nearest OPS office and obtaining a registration number.

Advance information indicated that Woods will not be able to roll back retail meat prices, a move he has had under consideration for some time. A study of retail price trends, it was reported, shows that they have kept in line with slightly declining wholesale costs, and that a rollback would not be justified.

GI Accused Of Conspiring To Sell
Secret Data On U.S. Jets To Enemy

Jewish Defendants In Czech
Purge Trials Admit Cheating
Nation In Anti-Moscow Plot

VIENNA, Nov. 24 (AP)—A Prague Court heard confessions today that the Jews among 14 Communists on trial made vast personal fortunes and financially cheated Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union before they were arrested in an anti-Moscow conspiracy.

Three Jewish defendants, speaking in the same abject tone of self-denunciation that has marked the confessions of the other prisoners, testified that most of the commercial and financial profiteering was done for the benefit of Israel.

With such admission, the trial of former Communist boss Rudolf Slansky and his friends neared its end. Only two more defendants remain to be heard.

The anti-Semitic nature of the trial reached its peak during the day, even while Prague's Communist newspaper Rude Pravo was charging that the "Americans have turned Israel into a base of aggression against the peace camp and the enslaved Arab nations."

Rude Pravo's editorial also charged that Slansky had helped Jews to flee from Czechoslovakia with "capitalist" property worth 12 million dollars.

In Jerusalem, Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett told the Israeli Knesset (parliament) that the liberation of Czechoslovakia from Hitler's storm troopers is now "desecrated by this attempt to revive his spirit within her borders."

He expressed the fear of persecution of Jews in Czechoslovakia and neighboring countries. Confessions of alleged economic misdealing for the gain of Jews in and outside of Czechoslovakia were made by Otto Fischl, former deputy finance minister; Rudolf Margolius, 39, and Evzen Loebl, 46, both former deputy ministers of foreign trade.

12 RCAF Airmen
Killed In Crash

COMOX, B. C., Nov. 24 (AP)—Twelve Royal Canadian Air Force men were killed at dusk tonight in the crash of a four-engine Lancaster bomber on the fringe of this reactivated training base. The pilot and co-pilot survived.

The RCAF said the dead included three crewmen and nine airmen being ferried for duty at the Comox base, on the east coast of Vancouver Island. No names were revealed.

An ambulance crew which fought its way through heavy brush to the crash scene pulled the pilot, co-pilot and another man alive from the wreckage.

The third man died en route to the base hospital.

Condition Of Truman's
Mother-In-Law Serious

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—President Truman's 90-year-old mother-in-law, Mrs. David W. Wallace, has suffered a stroke and her condition is critical.

The President's physician, Maj. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, said Mrs. Wallace, who has been in ill health for several years, suffered the stroke last Saturday. He reported some improvement in her condition today.

Yank Arrested
Sept. 21 In Korea

TOKYO, Tuesday, Nov. 25 (AP)—The Far East Air Forces today charged Staff Sgt. Giuseppe Cascio, 34, Tucson, Ariz., with conspiring to sell secret flight test data on the top U. S. jet warplane in the Korean theater.

The secret data involved performance tests of the F-86 Sabre jet, scourge of the Communist MIG-15 jets.

The Air Forces charge said Cascio "did wrongfully offer for sale to unauthorized persons" the secret flight test data, "with reason to believe that said writing would reach the enemy."

Charged In 16 Counts

Possibly the secret data involved performance tests of improved models which have been credited with giving U. S. jet airmen a bigger edge over the Communist MIGs. American jet airmen, by Air Force count, have run up an 8-1 score over Communist fliers in jet planes shot down.

The sergeant was charged in 16 counts of accepting military payment certificates from a Korean civilian while stationed in Korea.

The Air Forces charged that Cascio received classified (secret) data from Staff Sgt. John P. Jones of the headquarters squadron. It said Air Force doctors had declared Jones insane. No charge was made against Jones.

Arrested Sept. 21 In Korea

Cascio was arrested Sept. 21 in Korea after a six weeks investigation, the Air Forces said.

He is charged with violating Articles 80.81 and 134 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, dealing with classified information, and Article 92, pertaining to transactions in military script.

The maximum penalty possible is life imprisonment.

The Court-martial specification charges that Cascio conspired to "knowingly give intelligence to the enemy" and that he "did wrongfully offer for sale to unauthorized persons a classified military writing."

Five Airmen Die
In Crash Of B-50
Near Edgewood

EDGEWOOD, Md., Nov. 24 (AP)—A huge Air Force bomber dipped one silver wing shortly after takeoff here today, then plummeted into the cold waters of Bush River with the loss of five of its nine-man crew.

One body was recovered. And tonight salvage teams probed the river in an attempt to raise the wreckage and the bodies of the other four, believed to be inside.

An Army spokesman said the huge B-50 had just left the Edgewood Chemical Center field and proceeded over Boone's Creek before the crash happened.

The crash occurred just at the mouth of Boone's Creek where it joins Bush River.

The Army said none of the crew would be identified until next of kin of those lost have received notification.

The four who survived the crash of the four-motor bomber were rescued by a crash boat team. One of the four was sent to the nearby Army Proving Ground hospital for treatment of a fractured hand. An Air Force spokesman said the other three were suffering shock.

Son Disarms Father, Opens
Barricaded Home To Police

CINCINNATI, Nov. 24 (AP)—A short, slight father was subdued by police in suburban Reading with the aid of his 15-year-old son this evening after he and the boy had barricaded themselves in the house for more than five hours.

The father, 45-year-old Owen Warfield, a World War II veteran, was apprehended by Reading police after his son, David Sherill, had disarmed him and allowed officers into the house.

The father and son, both heavily armed, had barricaded themselves in their home after sheriff's deputies tried to take Warfield into custody on assault and battery and

Film Star Picks Up
Tropical Infection

LONDON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Doctors pumped powerful shots of antibiotics into Movie Star Ava Gardner (above) tonight to beat down a tropical infection picked up while movie-making in Africa.

The trim Hollywood beauty—who made the mistake of drinking the local water in Kenya's native country—lay in pain with stomach troubles.

But her doctors said it is nothing serious and promised to have her back on her feet again by Wednesday.

Ava, film-making at Nanyuki, was whisked to London by plane.

Allies Recapture
Pair Of Outposts
On Central Front

SEOUL, Tuesday, Nov. 25 (AP)—Counterattacking Allied troops today recaptured two important outposts in the Jackson Heights sector of the Korean Central Front as the conflict entered its 30th month.

The Eighth Army reported the outposts were yielded to the Reds last night in a new flareup of fighting in that hotly disputed sector. The Chinese assault was described as "strong" but how many Communists were involved was not reported.

Planes Bag 85 Red Trucks

Fighting has erupted almost nightly in the Jackson Heights area, but seldom results in any change in position. The Reds are strongly entrenched on the hill but the Allied outposts are on its southern slopes.

Allied warplanes carried on their campaign against Communist supply vehicles, bagging 85 last night. A Fifth Air Force spokesman said they brought the total to about 1,250 destroyed in the past 10 days.

B-29s Bomb Red Targets

At daybreak 12 Superforts bombed three Communist troop concentrations and supply dumps within an 18-acre area at Hoehchang, east of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Pilots reported light to moderate antiaircraft fire.

Rain and snow closed over the battle front Monday. The bad weather halted air blows temporarily and limited ground clashes to small probes.

Boy Shoots Man
Who Killed Sister

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 24 (AP)—A tall, slender 16-year-old boy today stepped into the Little Owl Bar and fired four shots into the man who had gone to prison for beating the boy's sister to death.

In critical condition with two bullet wounds in the head and two in the shoulder was Norman Jackson Slade, a giant of a man who weighs 260 pounds.

Marion G. Grace, 16, was held without bond on investigation of assault to murder.

Slade was sentenced to a year in jail March 14, 1951, in connection with the fatal beating of his wife, Vera Slade, the sister of the boy.

Both warrants reportedly were signed by his wife, Dora, from whom he has been separated.

Warfield, tears streaming down his bewiskered cheeks, was taken to General Hospital for mental observation. He kept muttering that he wanted to be home for Thanksgiving.

When the deputies approached, both Warfield and his son warned them not to come into the house or they would be "dead deputies."

The son relented, however, after talking to police, relatives and friends of the family on the telephone.

Some Revision
Is Necessary,
Acheson Says

Vishinsky Makes
Any Break Unlikely

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 24 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky turned down today as "unsatisfactory and unacceptable" India's compromise plan for ending the Korean War. Secretary of State Acheson replied that the U. S. regards the Indian proposal as "important and statesmanlike" but that there are some drafting changes needed before Washington can accept it completely.

In an obvious attempt to smooth over a serious rift with Britain and India over the much-debated proposal advanced by V. K. Krishna Menon of India, Acheson told the U. N. Political Committee that there is a "wide area of agreement" on what needs to be done in Korea.

He outlined some points on which the U. S. asked clarification and then said:

"We all want the same thing. If those difficulties are met, my government will support the Indian resolution and will loyally and faithfully attempt to carry it out."

Eden Backs Resolution

The Indian resolution was backed strongly by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who refused over the weekend to accept some changes asked by the U. S.

Menon himself, before Vishinsky tore up the pet project put up at the direction of Prime Minister Nehru of India, had said he could not accept further changes. But the committee may vote them into the resolution in a move to get complete agreement among the majority members.

Regardless of what the committee does, delegates generally agreed that Vishinsky's uncompromising stand made unlikely any break here in the long stalemate in Korea. But just the same Acheson called on the delegates to keep trying.

Acheson Praises Resolution

Acheson told Vishinsky and the committee that "no nation, no matter how powerful, can long stand against the moral force of the world."

Acheson praised the Indian resolution for containing the Western stand against forced repatriation of prisoners. Vishinsky assailed it on that very count, saying that it went against the Geneva Convention providing that all prisoners must be repatriated immediately upon cessation of hostilities.

The American secretary of state said that the U. N. cannot make any sacrifice of principle to end the fighting.

Vishinsky's appearance before the committee was a surprise. Poland had been expected to speak but Vishinsky, without notice, took over the spot allocated to the Moscow satellite and dismissed the Indian plan with chill finality.

Church Jammed
For Green Rites

COSHOCKTON, O., Nov. 24 (AP)—Coshockton today buried Bill Green—citizen, friend, miner and leader of eight million American workers.

To the world he was William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and champion of the rights of the men who produce the world's goods with their labor.

To his Eastern Ohio mining and lithographing center, he was Bill Green, the Welsh coal-digger who rose from the pits to friendship with the mighty, and never left his home town in spirit or residence.

So, Coshockton turned out. The common people were there, many of them fresh from coal pits like those Bill Green entered 70 years ago. And, so were the leaders, presidents of AFL unions and high labor officials.

They jammed Grace Methodist Church, where funeral services were held three days after a heart ailment caused the death of the AFL's second president in his red brick home near the center of Coshockton. He was 82.

Dr. Riley Wants Cuts Restored

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24 (AP) — Dr. Robert H. Riley, director of the State Health Department, said today the department will take its case for restoration of a $50,000 cut in its budget to members of the General Assembly.

He said legislators will be circulated, asking them to tell Gov. McKeldin they have no objections to restoring the funds slashed by the last General Assembly.

"We already have a deficit of almost $14,000, and if more money is not made available to us, as many as 2,000 Marylanders may lack the medical care they need before the end of the fiscal year," Dr. Riley said.

He said if the money is not restored to the budget, the department would be forced either to reduce the number of needy persons served or the amount in fees paid doctors, dentists and druggists.

Dr. Riley said McKeldin has been informed of the problem.

Originally, the department asked for an appropriation of $707,417 for its program. That amount was cut to $687,185 by the budget bureau, and was reduced another $50,000 by legislative action.

Rain Boosts City's Water Reserves

The water level in Lake Koon rose 10 feet last week as three inches of badly needed rain fell in this area.

By Sunday, the level of Lake Koon was within 14.7 feet of the crest and Lake Gordon was within three inches of overflowing.

Average consumption of water last week was 12,431,000 gallons as compared to 12,370,000 gallons a year ago.

Just before the heavy rains hit last week, water in Lake Koon, the city's main reservoir, had dropped to about 24 feet below the crest. Officials said it can go to 42 feet without damaging marine life needed for a healthy water supply.

If A President Dies

If a President should die in the first half of his term, the vice president would serve as the chief magistrate until a special election for President had been held in connection with the next mid-year congressional elections, under a proposal that Senator Smathers (D., Fla.) says he will submit to the new Congress. The proposal, no new one, is endorsed also by Senator Fulbright (D., Ark.), and was recently publicized by Walter Lippman, the newspaper commentator.

Senator Smathers declares that most voters, in their vote for a Presidential-Vice Presidential ticket, are thinking primarily of the respective candidates for President. They give little or no thought to how well a candidate for vice president would or wouldn't fill the Presidency.

The Constitution says that in case of the removal, death, resignation or inability of the President to discharge his powers and duties, "the same shall devolve on the vice president." This language means, said some authorities in 1841, when John Tyler was the first vice president in office on the death of a President (W. H. Harrison), that Tyler was to become only acting President, without the full authority of a President.

Most authorities, however, held otherwise. Tyler in his inaugural address said: "The person elected to the vice presidency . . . has had devolved upon him the Presidential office," and he was not challenged in proceeding as though he had been elected President. So undoubtedly the Smathers proposal could go into effect only as a Constitutional amendment.

The presidential succession act of 1792, in force for 64 years, provided for a special election for President and Vice President in case both offices became vacant less than five months before the end of a Presidential term. And in 1945 President Truman told Congress it ought to provide that the man (now the speaker of the House) who became chief executive on the death of both President and vice president should serve only until the midterm elections for Congress, or until a special election had been held to elect a new President and vice president.

Dulles At State Department

"He's Lansing's nephew, you know," one old chair in the State Department could say to another when John Foster Dulles drops in at the State Department building before taking over as secretary of State on January 20. "Yes, and he's old man Foster's grandson," one of the older antiques (inanimate) in the building can be imagined whispering to another.

For the State Department building itself, however, the new secretary of State will have none of these old associations. This is a new edifice, modern and chaste, four blocks from the old one in which Secretaries Foster and Lansing held forth; in which the Presidential press conferences are now held; and which, across the street from the White House, is an architectural gimcrack that makes the esthetic grieve.

Robert Lansing, uncle of the new secretary of State, was counselor of the State Department when Secretary Bryan resigned in 1915 over this country's handling of the German submarine warfare issue. President Wilson replaced Bryan with Lansing, but found him too legalistic and unimaginative at the peace conference in Paris. In Senate committee hearings Lansing was cited as having a poor opinion of the Treaty of Versailles; some months later he resigned when upbraided by Wilson for calling cabinet meetings which the President was too ill to call himself.

John W. Foster, lawyer grandfather of the new secretary of State, was minister to Mexico, Russia, and Spain; acted as agent for the U. S., also for China and for Mexico, in various international negotiations. Serving for eight months as secretary of State under President Benjamin Harrison, his chief accomplishment was a treaty for annexing Hawaii, which President Cleveland later withdrew as negotiated under questionable circumstances. Foster wrote much on diplomacy.

Victory For Franco

You might think that Tangier, on the northwest coast of Spanish Morocco, was as little worthy of attention as, say, Afghanistan. But you would agree that the Strait of Gibraltar, guarding the western water entrance to the whole Mediterranean area, is strategically all-important in the contest between Russia and the West for that area.

Well, Tangier lies just outside the strait, just as the Rock of Gibraltar lies just inside. The distance between the port and the Rock is only 35 miles, and any power occupying Tangier could dominate the straits just about as effectively as could the British at "Gib."

Because all the great powers had been jockeying for control of Tangier, the port and its surrounding territory were neutralized and placed under international control before World War I. After that war, in 1923, a new agreement gave Spain much internal policing control of the Tangier zone.

In 1940, after the Nazi conquest of France, Generalissimo Franco sent troops to occupy Tangier, calling the occupation necessary to preserve the port's neutrality. The long-closed German consulate at Tangier was thereupon re-opened. London and Washington protested against the troops, but Franco withdrew them only in 1945, after the end of the war.

At that time, the British and Americans were still hoping that Russia would play ball with them. So a new agreement of 1945 gave Russia a seat, which she has refused to occupy because another seat went to Spain, on the eight-power Tangier control board. Last April General Franco demanded that the 1923 agreement be reinstated, and now much of that demand has been agreed to; it looks like a diplomatic victory for Franco.

A Precedent

Never in history has a President-elect of the United States gone to a battlefield in search of a solution to a stalemate war. Whether General Eisenhower would have declared he would go if elected had he known he was headed toward a landslide victory at the polls is beside the point. Something may come of his trip to Korea.

To date the only appraisal of the Korean War that seems to make sense is General MacArthur's "there is no substitute for victory." The U. S. seems to have a choice of three courses—continuing on the present stalemate line, with heavy casualties; bombing Chinese supply lines beyond the Yalu, or pulling out.

Spare Your Back

The back is asked to take so much abuse we wonder why it does not rebel more often. With every motion or step, this structure is thrown into play to carry the weight of the upper part of the body and to maintain balance. This means that it is never at rest except when lying down, but even here relaxation is incomplete because most of us twist and turn the sound asleep.

Engineers might find it difficult to improve upon the spine. The bones and joints are held together by a network of ligaments and muscles. The muscles may be massive but many individuals subject them to more stress and strain than nature intended. This results in aching, more so when the job is too hard or the load too heavy to carry. Some backs are strong enough but are placed at a disadvantage continuously thru faulty posture. The ensuing fatigue is one of the most frequent causes of backache. Years ago this discomfort was called rheumatism but we now refer to it as postural strain or postural decompensation.

The condition is particularly common in women, especially the young mother. During pregnancy she is forced to bend backward to balance herself, which upsets the normal alignment and throws a strain on the muscles and ligaments. When there are other small children, the load is increased according with housework, laundry, and 1,001 tiring jobs. Heavy youngsters are lifted several times a day, which is done by bending the spine rather than the knees. In the evening she intensifies postural strain by wearing high heels to add glamor to her appearance.

The ligaments suffer most from habitual poor posture. Normally, in standing, the head and chest are held high, the abdomen is flat, and the buttocks do not protrude. In this way the hollow of the back is kept to a minimum. The knees need not be completely straight; if anything, the alignment is better and not under tension when they are slightly bent. Deviations from this position lead to the strain that induces fatigue and painful back spasm.

The woman with slouching shoulders and sagging lower abdomen and pelvis is a familiar sight. Her back is really hollow and unless sufficient rest in a relaxed position is obtained to ease the pull on the ligaments she is a good candidate for backache. Some obtain relief during the day by lying on the floor with the legs resting on a chair. Sleeping on a firm bed is helpful but sagging mattresses and springs will aggravate distress. Placing a large sheet of plywood between mattresses and springs has helped many backache victims by making the bed firmer.

The old military position of standing up straight and keeping the shoulders back is no longer regarded as good posture because it leads to swayback (lordosis). This is particularly true when the knees are locked because the middle of the body must sag forward to maintain balance.

LAZY THYROID

J. W. writes: Why does a person's thyroid gland become inactive?

REPLY

In most instances the cause cannot be determined. Disturbed thyroid development in the newborn is blamed on a deficiency of iodine in the mother's body especially in the goiter belts of the world. In other cases hypothyroidism follows infections such as in typhoid, pneumonia, influenza, and syphilis. In still other instances, there is a gradual slowing of the entire glandular system. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on hypothyroidism.

EPSOM SALTS

R. F. writes: I have been told that taking a warm bath with Epsom salts once a week will help me lose weight. Please advise.

REPLY

Epsom salts is one of the most overrated home remedies ever devised. There's no argument as to its ability to purge but beyond that it adds little to the foot bath which is supposed to "draw out" pain, swelling, or infection. The same can be said of its weight reducing properties.

RESULTS OF NEGLECT

O. W. writes: Could untreated syphilis lead to high blood pressure and heart disease in later life?

REPLY

Yes, and before the advent of modern treatment these complications were common.

SHEEP SENSITIVITY

R. L. writes: I am allergic to sheep and all their products, including wool sweaters. I was wondering if I could wear cashmere.

REPLY

You might be tested for sensitivity to goat hair before investing in a cashmere sweater.

TOUCHING DRY ICE

H. G. writes: Is touching dry ice with the bare hands harmful?

REPLY

The practice does not kill but it may freeze the outer layer of the skin in much the same way as touching a hot kettle will burn the fingers.

GOP Plans To Woo Southern Senators; Brownell Was Dewey Crime-Buster; New Secretary Of Interior Faces Tough Reclamation Decision

WASHINGTON — Eisenhower's top advisers have hatched smart strategy for dealing with Democrats in the Senate. Through it, they expect to control a majority of Southern Democrats in the Senate for at least two years, possibly longer.

Their strategy is to play ball with the Southern Democrats and not attempt to build up the Republican party in the deep South. Ike-advisers figure that if they butter-up men like George and Russell of Georgia, Eastland and Stennis of Mississippi, they will co-operate on Eisenhower's legislative program.

completely different strategy in the border states, plus Florida. For in these states—Kentucky, Tennessee, Maryland, and Oklahoma—Eisenhower either rolled up sizable margins or won.

In these states, therefore, Republican strategy will be to organize locally as diligently as possible with the hope of making them definitely Republican in the next election.

But in Virginia, where Eisenhower will seek to keep the favor of Senator Byrd's friends, and in Missouri, they will employ a deep South, GOP strategists figure that Democratic senators think and vote pretty much as Republicans anyway, so the best strategy is to court their favor.

Mac And Dwight

It's just leaked out that the only man who can talk turkey to General MacArthur and get away with it—General George Kennen—made an eleven-hour plea to the proud MacArthur to let bygones be bygones and endorse his former military aide, Dwight Eisenhower, for President. But MacArthur shook his head, sat sullen and silent in his Waldorf Tower until the last election returns were in.

Only a few insiders know about General Kennen's last-minute appeal, which he made three days before the election. He was put up to it by New York's Governor Tom Dewey, who had already tried to win MacArthur over to the Eisenhower handwagon through such GOP stalwarts as ex-President Herbert Hoover and House leader Joe Martin. Both had failed to heal the old rift between MacArthur and his onetime aide.

However, the man who has always been able to tell off MacArthur and still make him like it, is the runt-sized, weatherbeaten Kennen, MacArthur's air commander in the South Pacific. So Dewey dispatched the retired Air Force general to MacArthur's Waldorf Tower apartment to make a final appeal.

"Boss," urged Kennen, "why won't you come out for Eisenhower?"

MacArthur spoke grandiloquently of his obligation to his loyal followers who were still supporting him for President.

"Those California radicals?" snorted Kennen. "If you string along with that gang, you couldn't be elected dog-catcher."

The blunt-talking Air Force general argued, pleaded, and cajoled.

"Look," he said, "it's only a five-minute walk from here to Eisenhower's suite at the Commodore."

"And it's only a five-minute walk from the Commodore here," replied MacArthur.

That ended the conversation. Probably the breach between the two men now never will be healed.

Cabinet Notes
New Attorney General Herbert Brownell, writing as guest columnist for the Washington Merry-Go-Round Aug. 23, 1945, said: "The inside story from Republican leaders is that the Republican party will win control of Congress in 1946. Put that down as one of this column's 'predictions of things to come.'"

Brownell, then chairman of the Republican National Committee, proceeded to make his prediction come true. . . . Brownell began politics as Tom Dewey's successful campaign manager in the race for governor of New York in 1942, has been close to him ever since, watched Dewey's racket clean-up in New York, should do an equally good job in cleaning up federal corruption. . . . Brownell is one of the closest men to Eisenhower, was given the job of handling patronage, will fly with Ike to Korea. At the Chicago convention, novice Eisenhower leaned on Brownell heavily, used to say: "What do we do next, Herb?"

George Humphrey, new secretary of the Treasury, is the nearest thing to an Andrew Mellon since Mellon himself ran the Treasury. Humphrey is chairman of the Mellon-dominated Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., one of the biggest in the world; also leads the Mark Hanna Co., a Great Lakes ore concern; the Iron Ore Co. of Canada and the Industrial Rayon Corp. . . . ## Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Climate In The Streets

PARIS
This most wonderfully beautiful of all beautiful cities seems somehow even finer, this year, than it has at any time since the war. Life in Paris, and indeed in France, has finally lost the flavor of hectic insecurity that characterized the post-war years. Here and there, after the long night of dark hopelessness, one even finds a brave glimmer of hope for the future.

An American, preparing to take his leave of Paris, may properly feel a modest pride in this return of a more normal and healthy atmosphere. Without the great initiatives of American post-war policy, the night of Europe's post-war hopelessness would surely, by now, have ended in final catastrophe.

Yet there is poison in this French atmosphere also—a poison that expresses itself in the truly venomous criticism of the United States and all its works that can now be heard everywhere in France.

The pursuit of love, the struggle, to be liked by foreigners, are cardinal errors of foreign policy. The richest nation on earth, bearing on its shoulders the entire final responsibility for the fate of the Western World, cannot expect to be held in affection by partner nations which must now acknowledge this new leader. But it is also very dangerous if dislike and distrust reach such a pitch that calm discussion of common problems becomes all but impossible. This is close to being the state of affairs today between France and America.

Not Dependable Emotion

It is easy enough to see the superficial causes of this grave trouble. The French after all think, not incorrectly, that the great American policy initiatives which have saved France were also designed to serve the interests of America. Gratitude, like love, is never a dependable international emotion.

Meanwhile, the French are depressed by our deplorable habit of sending vaster missions to administer our foreign policies than the Germans used to send to control their satellites. They are angered by such illogical vagaries as our attempt to hunt with the French hounds and run with the Moslem hares in the Tunisian controversy. They are badly over-strained by the effort to rearm, to which we have summoned them. They cannot see why, in dealing with such problems as Indo-China, "the Americans always give just enough to keep our noses above water, so we always feel as though we are drowning," as so good a friend of America as Defense Minister Rene Pleven is rumored to have remarked.

Add to all this the current tactics of the Kremlin and its faithful here in France. Anti-Americanism is now the only Communist touchstone. Failure to appreciate this fact is one of the cardinal reasons why French communism's senior hero, Marty, and its great resistance fighter, Tillon, are about to be ignominiously expelled from the party. One of Marty's crimes was suggesting an "anti-Fascist front" against the followers of General De Gaulle. The Gaullists are anti-American too, and are therefore really hardly Fascists any longer.

To some extent among the workers, and to a very great extent among the intellectuals, the Communist propaganda against America is making headway. Significantly, Jean-Paul Sartre, the existentialist philosopher and man of letters who has loomed so large on the post war intellectual scene, is now going to Vienna to attend the next Moscow-sponsored "peace congress." Until very recently, Sartre has stoutly condemned totalitarianism in all its forms. But now, in tacit preparation for his Vienna visit, he has had to prevent the Viennese from putting on the stage his own bittling satire anti-totalitarian play, "Les Mains Sales."

Other Signs Of Trouble

There are plenty of other signs of the same trouble here in France. There is the widespread French conviction that President Eisenhower will be a mere smiling false front for Sen. Robert A. Taft. There is the even more deeply rooted and still more nonsensical belief that the future secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, is a fire-breathing warmonger, who would obliterate Europe with hydrogen bombs in order to free Poland and so gain votes in Hamtramck. But the symptoms of the disease, and even the superficial causes of French irritation against America, are far less important than the true sources of France's anti-Americanism.

The first, and least important of these sources, is the simple fact that Europe, although returning to normality, is still tired. Tired men often prefer self-delusion to further effort. The Kremlin, by winding up its performance as the Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang, has encouraged this European tendency to self-delusion. It is not Soviet propaganda, but Soviet quiescence, which makes the French hanker to forget about all the ugly problems and requirements that the Americans keep talking about.

Even this would not have mattered much, however, if American policy had not succumbed to a creeping paralysis shortly after Korea. After all, the responsibilities of leadership cannot be put in cold storage for very long. To be relied upon, to inspire confidence, a leader must lead. But our responsibilities as leader of the West have been utterly forgotten ever since the first roars of campaign politics were heard, 'way back in 1951.

Consequently, every kind of difficulty, ranging from the war in Indo-China to the recruitment of German divisions, has grown much

Some Cabinet Appointments

Of the various names that had been suggested for secretary of State, only John Foster Dulles has had any far Eastern as well as European experience. He has known Far Eastern affairs intimately and for a long time. Co-author with Senator Vandenberg of the so-called bipartisan foreign policy, he entered the State Department as a Republican, only to be disillusioned by the policies and practices of the Democrats, who usually acted first and consulted afterwards. He was an important factor at the San Francisco Conference where the Charter of the United Nations was written. He arranged the Japanese Peace Treaty and tried to establish an Asiatic alliance which would have included Formosa.

John Foster Dulles's grandfather, John W. Foster, was secretary of State in the administration of President Benjamin Harrison. His uncle, Robert Lansing, was secretary of State under Woodrow Wilson. His brother, Allen Dulles, was active in the OSS, particularly in the efforts to shorten the war by revolution in Germany against Hitler; he is now the number two man in the Central Intelligence Agency.

Dulles will bring to the State Department not only a broad personal experience but a family tradition of international relations based upon the assumption that America must not be sacrificed. His view, often written and spoken, must have the full support of General Eisenhower who is not buying a pig in a poke. In fact, with the exception of Herbert Hoover, no Republican has so often presented his party's position, which, while never isolationistic, has also never been so internationalistic that America is to be regarded as nothing more than a fat cow to be milked until dry.

While commitments made since 1938 cannot be abandoned, it may, with some confidence, be expected that policies will be re-appraised and put on a more realistic basis in which the survival of the United States, as a great power, will not be subordinated to the necessities of all other countries without due regard to our own.

General Eisenhower's appointments thus far represent not so much political apportionment as a regard for efficient operations. C. E. Wilson, of General Motors—who must be identified in this manner to distinguish him from the

C. E. Wilson of General Electric—will bring to the Department of Defense the capacity for organization and production which that department has not had since it was founded.

James Forrestal was the founder and imaginative spirit who envisioned the concept of a unified military establishment. He gave his life to that cause. Louis Johnson had to battle against difficult opposition for a program designed by the President which not only proved unpopular but which was wrecked by the Korean War. General George Marshall was neither by temperament nor tradition suitable for a civilian post and spoiled a great reputation in the three such posts he held. Robert A. Lovett has done an outstanding job.

It is fortunate that he will be followed by C. E. Wilson, who has the advantage of being a production man rather than a banker. It is on the production side that our defenses are weakest, despite our superiority in productive capacity.

General Eisenhower has pledged himself to eliminate waste in the armed forces. As a commanding general and as a former chief-of-staff, he understands the nature and reason for waste. He puts at the head of the national defense one who has long been associated with one of the best managed productive companies of the United States.

It is to be assumed that what General Eisenhower has in mind is the application of the most tested principles of management to the problems of national defense. One of the difficulties that the civilian heads of defense establishments encounter is that the generals and admirals insist on their methods and their specifications as the only ones that will work; otherwise the country will be conquered and lost forever. It will be difficult for any military man to tell that to General Eisenhower. It will be equally difficult to tell that to C. E. Wilson who is even now sitting on the other side of the table, making what the Army has ordered. This combination of knowledge brought into defense ought to be unbeatable.

Defense and State Departments have had a way of fighting over foreign policy. It is not likely that C. E. Wilson will invade John Foster Dulles's domain.

Is Fiancee Of Pfc. J. R. Bachman

Miss Elizabeth Jane Smith, fiancee of Pfc. John Richard Bachman, has selected her sister, Miss Joan Louise Smith, to be her maid of honor and only attendant for their wedding November 29.

Zero Hour For Pop Nears; It's Turkey Carving Time

By M. E. BYRNE
Written for Central Press

Some day, some how, one of our great mechanical geniuses will up and invent a gadget for which a nation of frustrated, perspiring householders have been longing for—an automatic Thanksgiving turkey carver, table model, and family size.

This electronic marvel will slice off and serve up the white meat to the varied thicknesses desired by Aunt Eppie and Cousin Frank, will snip off in a split second a drum-stick for starving Junior and, best of all, will extract and dish out the dressing, or stuffing, without getting a single moist crumb on Mom's company table cloth.

However, until the golden dawn of this glorious gadget, Pop will just have to continue "doing the honors" as kith and kin gather around the festive for the annual turkey-cranberry-and-pumpkin pie binge.

Carving a Thanksgiving turkey in swift and suitable fashion while the family looks on in highly critical fashion is no task for a weakling. It calls for steel nerves and dauntless determination.

Mom has long been hailed as a heroine of the annual American fall festival. And rightly so. She invariably reaches her culinary peak, with the bird roasted to golden brown perfection, the dressing a gourmet's dream and the potatoes and gravy a symphony of goodness; all crowned by incomparable pumpkin pie!

However, she accomplishes these miracles in the comparative privacy of the kitchen while the rest of the family is engaged in such arduous chores as watching the annual high school football classic, staring at television or decorating the mattress for a few hours' extra snooze.

Not so for Pop. When it comes time for him to do his duty with the carving set, he must do so in the full glare of all the family's rapt attention. Each move he makes is noted and commented upon.

Pop's ordeal begins when Mom proudly marches into the dining room bearing aloft the platter exuding heavenly odors, amid cries of, "What a bird!" "Biggest ever!" and "Sure is a beauty!" It's H-Hour of D-Day for the Old Man—and he knows it.

Grasping knife in right hand he stabs at the turkey with his fork-bearing left and strikes a bone! The bird swivels like an elusive halfback and bunts a couple of potatoes onto the snowy Irish linen.

Pop finally manages to get the fork firmly imbedded and begins to hack away at a drumstick which suddenly has become attached to the rest of the fowl by a hinge of reinforced steel. Saw-hack-whang-bang! No use!

In an effort to outwit the stubborn bird, Pop switches his attack to a wing and by alternately using the carving knife as a cleaver and a saw manages to sever that limb. He hopefully offers it around the table. There are no takers. Everyone wants white meat.

White meat it is! So Pop starts to work in that department and promptly slashes off a large segment of turkey skin and nothing else. This maneuver sends the bird spinning into an Immelmann turn and it slides completely off the platter.

Pops temper, as well as the table cloth, being completely wrecked, Mom sighs and says, "Oh let me do it!" And she does. In two minutes everybody's plate is loaded with turkey.

And Pop? Look, let's not go any further with this. Let the Old Boy enjoy his Thanksgiving dinner in peace—if he can.

Although the owl cannot move its eyes in their sockets, it can rotate its head in an arc as wide as 270 degrees.

Brothers Fined In Forest Fire At Woodmont

The State Department of Forests and Parks secured convictions against two Hancock area brothers on charges of negligence in starting fires November 2 in the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club section during the height of the dry spell.

The two Norrises were fined $100 and costs each by Trial Magistrate Edward P. Post at the long hearing conducted Saturday at Hancock. They pleaded not guilty. They appealed the decision of the magistrate and were freed after posting $500 bond each.

State's witnesses testified that three fires were started on the Old Rizer Road about 1 a. m. and were quickly extinguished by fire fighters.

There, he stated, the three talked to a crew of men who were fighting the fire in the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club section. Shortly after that they left enroute to the Norris brothers' hut. One and one-half miles from Route 40 the cab had to turn around because of a tree that had fallen across the road, Vance testified.

Fifteen minutes later the two brothers started to walk to their home after two other witnesses, both firefighters, Paul Bowman and Norman Munson said they removed the log.

The fire in the Sideling Hill Mountain at 12:30 a. m. Sunday, November 2.

The crew fighting the fire noticed these new outbreaks, Bodkin explained, and quickly extinguished them. Bodkin and an aide went immediately to the Norris brothers' home and found them.

The state's seven witnesses contended that because of the intense patrol system set up that Saturday night and early Sunday morning, it was impossible for anyone to get into the Old Rizer Road and not be detected doing so.

The fire in the Sideling Hill Mountain section that weekend destroyed 162 acres of woodland, not to mention untold destruction of wildlife.

German Girl Engaged To Area Airman In Hospital

A German girl, in this country only a week and awaiting marriage to an area member of the armed forces, is a patient in Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted Saturday for an emergency appendectomy. Attaches reported her "resting comfortably" last night.

The girl, Miss Katherine Hoffman, 27, arrived last Saturday from Germany to await marriage to Pfc. Harry D. Lantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe D. Lantz, Miltenberger Road, near Fort Ashby. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hoffman, of near Frankfurt, Germany.

Lantz and Miss Hoffman met in Germany when he was stationed there with the Air Force. They kept company practically the entire three years he served overseas and continued to correspond when he returned to stateside duty.

Following his return here, Lantz consulted Attorney Vernon E. Rankin of Keyser as to the procedure he must go through to permit Miss Hoffman to come to this country for marriage to him. Attorney Rankin represented Lantz in his arrangements with the Immigration Department and following consultations with Congressman Harley O. Staggers, Keyser, of the Second West Virginia Congressional District, a special bill was introduced by Staggers and passed in Congress allowing Miss Hoffman to enter the country in excess of the allotted German quota.

Miss Hoffman worked as a saleslady and telephone operator in Germany. Her employment as a telephone operator was mostly confined to long distance calls as she speaks several different languages, including "good English."

Lantz, who is stationed at Beale AFB, near San Francisco, entered the service in April, 1948. He was sent overseas in October of that year and returned to the states in October of last year. He attended Ridgeley High School prior to entering the service.

The couple plan to marry next month, when he has a leave scheduled. He has another year to complete before his enlistment expires.

Fahey said the men will travel via Blue Ridge bus. The Cumberland group will depart at 7 a. m.

Citizens Seek Parking Lots

Petitions signed by 1,432 persons were submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday urging the city construct parking lots to retain and recover retail trade.

Commissioner of Finance William V. Keegan said the North End Business Association has submitted the petitions.

Included in the petitions were residents throughout the tri-state area, Berkeley Springs, Elkins, Hagerstown, Addison, Philadelphia, Johnstown, and other Pennsylvania cities.

The petitions pointed out much trade is lost because of lack of parking facilities, and that the city has been authorized to construct adequate parking lots. The lots would also help alleviate a congested traffic problem, the petitions state.

Mayor Roy W. Eves, meanwhile, said a meeting of the council with a New York engineer on the parking lot question will be held today at 1:15 p. m. at City Hall. No charge is being made for this service, he said, but the city can employ the engineer to make a study of local parking lot prospects.

Eves Appointed To State Group

The mayors of Cumberland and Frostburg were elected to positions in the Maryland Municipal League as its three-day convention drew to a close last week in Hagerstown.

Mayor Roy W. Eves of Cumberland was named to the six-member league council which has Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore as chairman.

Mayor Jesse Jacobs of Frostburg was elected regional vice president for Western Maryland.

Herbert W. Reichelt, mayor of Mt. Rainier, was elected president succeeding Mayor Herman Mills of Hagerstown.

Home rule was the main theme of the three-day meeting. Mayor D'Alesandro told the delegates all the state's cities and towns should get behind a concerted effort for an amendment to the state constitution which would transfer powers from the General Assembly to local governments.

It was pointed out many minor municipal problems must now be taken to Annapolis for authorization or approval of the legislature and the resulting local bills always swamp the lawmaking machinery every other year.

Governor McKeldin told the convention Friday the state would have a better government if the legislature were freed of the local legislation burden.

Vandalism Reported

Paul Roeder, 813 Ashland Avenue reported eight young ash trees in front of his home were damaged late Saturday night or early Sunday by a vandal.

City Police said limbs were twisted off the saplings.

The Invisible Part Of Your Drug Store

Did you know that there is more to the drug store than meets the eye? Sure, it is a handy place to get toothpaste or razor blades. And you take it for granted that you can obtain life-saving drugs in a hurry when you need them.

But when you look at the prescription counter, you cannot see the most important things behind it: Skill, judgment, and competence that stem from prolonged experience... years of arduous study needed to become a druggist... stiff examinations that weed out the unfit and incompetent... the foresight necessary to stock the right drugs so that prescriptions can be filled quickly... strict laws, rigidly enforced, that insure the proper handling of dangerous drugs... countless safeguards to provide you with effective, safe medicines.

Among these safeguards is the law that requires a doctor's prescription for drugs which may be harmful. That is why you can get sleeping pills, penicillin, and many other drugs only when your physician prescribes them. That is why your druggist who wants to help you when you are sick can do so best by observing the law. Never treat yourself—see your doctor when you are sick.

People are living longer today—

Has this affected the cost of Life Insurance?

Yes. It has helped hold down the cost

If it had not been for the improved health of the nation, and the fact that more people are living longer, the cost of life insurance would be higher today.

The death rate among policyholders has gone down. In 1926, the rate was 9.0 per 1,000. In 1951, it was 6.4—a drop of almost 30%. If this had been the only factor, the cost of life insurance would have gone down.

But let's look at the other factors.

In the last 25 years, for example, while mortality has been improving, interest rates, an important factor in the cost of life insurance, have gone down. 25 years ago, companies earned over 5% on invested life insurance funds. Today, they earn a little over 3%—a 40% drop.

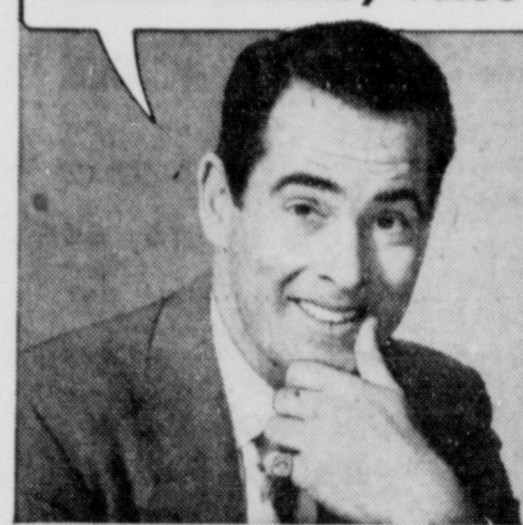

And since the end of the war, operating expenses have gone up in the life insurance business as they have in all businesses. This in spite of the fact that there has been an increased efficiency of operation of more than 25%.

While both of these other factors affect the final cost, the improved health of the nation has helped hold down the cost of life insurance.

Syracuse And Wisconsin Gridders Accept Bowl Bids

Alabama Faces New York Club In Orange Bowl

Elvens To Receive About $110,000 Each From Game In Miami

By STUART G. BAIRD
MIAMI, Nov. 24 (INS)—Syracuse University late today accepted a bid to meet Alabama's Crimson Tide in Miami's Orange Bowl on New Year's Day.

The Orangemen were offered the bid shortly after Navy declined a last-ditch invitation. The Syracuse eleven, which lost only to a pro-laden Bowling Air Force Base team and invincible Michigan State, will battle an Alabama squad which also has lost twice.

Sugar Bowl bound Georgia Tech stopped Bama, 7 to 3, two weeks ago, and Tennessee, which will play in the Cotton Bowl, handed the Crimson Tide a 20 to 0 defeat earlier in the season.

Bama clinched a bid to the Miami grid classic Saturday by stopping once-fearful Maryland, 27 to 7. They voted to make the Miami trip yesterday.

Syracuse has completed its best season since 1931 and it is expected to win the coveted Lambert Trophy, symbolic of the East's top grid team.

Both contestants should garner about $110,000 each from the game, which will be televised nationally. Syracuse has defeated Boston University, Temple, Holy Cross, Cornell, Penn State, Colgate and Fordham.

Alabama was victorious over Mississippi Southern, LSU, Miami, VPI, Mississippi State, Georgia and Chattanooga. They are favored to defeat Auburn Saturday in their final game of the season.

Allegany Plays Fort Hill 20th Time Thursday

Campers Leading 9-8; LaSalle Has 4-1 Edge

Allegany and Fort Hill will be meeting for the twentieth time on the gridiron when they tangle on Thanksgiving Day.

The series was inaugurated in 1936 and after the 1945 game the Campers led in victories nine to two with one contest ending in a tie. Fort Hill has won six of the last seven games and the best Allegany could get was a 6-6 tie in 1948 when both schools were undefeated.

A victory for Fort Hill on Thursday would tie up the series at 9-9-2. Sixteen of the 19 games have been staged on Turkey Day and in these AHS has emerged the victor in nine, Fort Hill six and one ended in a tie.

The biggest margins of victory were four touchdowns credited to Fort Hill in the 1949 and 1950 games. Only one point separated the teams in the 1944 and 1945 Thanksgiving Day tilts.

Here are the past scores:

Byrd Blames Terp Coaches For Grid Team's Collapse

Charges Tatum With "Talking Too Much"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The University of Maryland's president blamed its football coaching staff today for collapse of the Terrapins in their last two games.

Dr. H. C. "Curly" Byrd, former player and coach and now president of the university, expressed himself bluntly in a speech at the Washington Touchdown Club and in answering questions afterward.

Maryland was ranked among the top teams in the nation when it started the season, and lived up to that promise for a time. But it lost 27-7 to Alabama Saturday after falling 21-14 before Mississippi the week before.

Byrd's sharpest blast came when he was asked about Maryland's prospects next year.

"If we get the kind of coaching we did from September to November of this year," he replied, "we'll be all right. But if we get the kind of coaching we did from November on, when the coaches stopped thinking, I wouldn't be able to answer."

He lashed out at Head Coach Jim Tatum for "talking too much," and added:

"I've been trying to shut him up for three years without success."

Sammy Snead Retains Lead

Posts 54-Hole 135 In Boros Tourney

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., Nov. 24 (AP)—Sammy Snead continued his birdie hunt in today's second round of the $5,000, 54-hole Julius Boros Open Golf Tournament, fashioning a five-under-par 67 for a 135 total and a two-stroke lead going into tomorrow's final 18 holes.

Clinging doggedly to the heels of the smiling man from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was Pete Fleming, Hot Springs, Ark., pro, who plays out of St. Andrews, Ill. The 35-year-old Fleming came in with a 68 to go along with an opening 69 for 137.

Lou Barbaro, Deal, N. J., pro, came in with 68 for 138, three strokes back of Snead in third place.

Tied at 140 with faint hopes of threatening the leaders in the quest for $1,000 top money were Doug Ford, Yonkers, N. Y., and Pete Cooper, White Plains, N. Y., each with a pair of 70s. Next, at 141, was Al Bessellink, Grossinger, N. Y.

Big Ten Picks Badger Eleven For Rose Bowl

Team That Shared Big Ten Title To Play Southern Cal

BY PATRICK JOYCE
CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (INS)—It's "On Wisconsin" for the Rose Bowl football game New Year's Day at Pasadena, Calif.

The battling Badgers were chosen today as the Big Ten representative to face Southern California, Pacific Coast Conference champion, in the annual gridiron classic.

Commissioner Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson announced at Western Conference headquarters in Chicago that Wisconsin, which finished in a tie for the Big Ten leadership with Purdue's Boilermakers, was the choice of a majority of conference athletic directors.

The two teams had identical records in Big Ten play—four victories, one tie and one defeat.

First Shot For Badgers

Wisconsin's selection gave the Badgers their first chance to play in a Rose Bowl game. The Badgers' drive for the title earned them their first Big Ten crown in 40 years—even though they had to share it with Purdue.

Wisconsin lost a chance for complete possession of the conference title when the Badgers were held to a 21 to 21 tie last Saturday by Minnesota, while Purdue was edging out Indiana, 21 to 16.

Details of the directors' vote were not made public, although all Big Ten schools, including Michigan State, participated.

Michigan State, which is undefeated, will begin official play in conference football next season although it has been competing in other sports with Big Ten teams.

Since last Saturday's results which deadlocked tie claims, there has been some argument among Wisconsin and Purdue rooters concerning the merits of both teams.

As a matter of unbiased fact, however, they had remarkably similar records over the past season. Each beat Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. Each was tied by Minnesota. Purdue defeated Ohio State while Wisconsin lost to the Buckeyes.

Wisconsin had a better non-conference record. The Badgers conquered Rice and Marquette and lost, 20 to 7, to UCLA.

Purdue faced stronger non-conference foes, losing to Notre Dame and Michigan State and being tied by Penn State.

Wisconsin will face a powerful opponent in the Rose Bowl in undefeated and untied Southern California. The Trojans won undisputed right to the coast crown last Saturday by vanquishing previously unbeaten UCLA, 14 to 12.

Illinois Won 1952 Game

The west coast champions have a golden opportunity to snap a six-year Big Ten winning streak by beating Wisconsin. Illinois started the string in 1947 by walloping UCLA, 45 to 14, and added victory number six to the list last New Year's Day by trouncing Stanford, 40 to 7.

The current West Coast pact with the Big Ten will run until Jan. 1, 1954.

As You WERE

(This is the twelfth in a series of sketches with pictures of well known sport personalities of the past from the album of the Cumberland News Sports Editor. See if you can identify them by their photo.)

This fellow was the "Boy Wonder" of golf at the Cumberland Country Club about 25 years ago.

He was a high school student at the time and he captured two spring and four fall tournaments.

He also pitched baseball but he discovered he had more luck on the links and gave up the diamond sport. The tall youngster was regarded as one of the best golfers in the history of the CCC.

When he got too good for the golfers here he packed his clubs and headed for the Wonder State for more worlds to conquer. And he bagged several tournaments there. What's his name?

Grid Coach Quits

SANTA CLARA, Calif., Nov. 24 (AP)—With a year of his contract still to go, Dick Gallagher today resigned as Santa Clara head football coach and said he will rejoin the professional Cleveland Browns to assist in personnel and talent scout work.

Gallagher was the Browns' end coach and scout before he came to Santa Clara in 1950.

West Virginia's Roster Includes Eight Freshmen

Brown Says Mounties Might Lose 10 Games

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 24 (AP)—Despite eight highly-publicized freshmen, some of them high school all-stars, Coach Robert N. "Red" Brown is flashing the weeping towel about his 1952-53 West Virginia University basketball squad.

Brown said in a pessimistic tone today that his West Virginia Mountaineers might lose as many as 10 of the 24 scheduled games.

By Jan. 1, Brown maintains, he will know whether "we are in or out of the conference's tournament-qualification race."

Twenty-two candidates reported to Brown when basketball drills began Nov. 1, four of whom were regulars a year ago.

One of the big reasons for the gloomy outlook at Morgantown is that one of the experienced four, Mac Isner, probably will be sidelined two or three weeks with a broken thumb suffered during practice.

Brown said also this year's squad would be "one of the smallest teams in the Southern Conference," as far as experienced performers is concerned.

Besides Isner, the other seasoned players returning from last year's crack 23-4 team include Capt. Jim Sotkile, who was out of action much of 1951-52 with an injury; Eddie Becker, who scored 307 points as a sophomore, and Red Holmes, seventh nationally last year in assists.

As for the freshmen, some of them appear to be slated for heavy varsity duty.

One, 6-5 Willie Bergines, was twice all-stater when he led Beckley to two straight West Virginia Class A schoolboy titles. Other yearlings include 6-10 Johnny Coil of South Amboy, N. J., who scored 65 points in one high school contest; 6-7 Paul Witting, Union, N. J., Gary Mullins, 6-5 all-stater from Gassaway; 6-2 Dubby Morris, all-stater from Huntington; Ronnie LaNeve, another all-stater from Newell, and John and Mike Holt, West Virginia twins who starred at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

From the sophomore ranks into varsity competition move 6-5 Pete White of Clendenin, Charles Huggins of Morgantown and 5-9 Frank Spadafore of Shinnston.

12-Day Race Meets Approved For Half Milers In Maryland

Committee Favors Building Fund For State Minor Ovals

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Budget and Finance Committee of the Legislative Council today approved a number of recommendations affecting Maryland horse racing, including one for more days of racing each year and one for a fulltime Racing Commission chairman.

The recommendations were aired before the body by a special study committee on Maryland racing, appointed by the legislative council and headed by Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert D-Howard.

The council acts in an advisory capacity to the General Assembly. The committee agreed with Sybert's study body that eight more days should be added to the total of 100 for one-mile tracks. This move would permit an even division of 36 among the three tracks instead of the present 33, 33, 34.

12 For Half Milers
They found that each of the five half-mile tracks should have 12 instead of 10 days and the four harness tracks should have 24 days each instead of the 20 now allotted.

The three days allowance for rain would be withdrawn in the case of the harness tracks under the new proposal.

Other Sybert committee recommendations approved by the legislative council members:

1. To appoint a full time Racing Commission chairman whose salary would be $15,000 per year.
2. To name by law the tracks and their location so that the legislature, instead of the Racing Commission, could handle the days of racing allotted to a given track should it be abandoned.
3. Any money owed to a mile track from the building fund would revert to the state treasury in case of abandonment.
4. Set up a building fund for half mile tracks.
5. Require the mile tracks to hand over $16,000 to the Maryland State Fair Association and $8,000 to the Maryland Horsebreeders' Association each year instead of the payments of $12,000 and $6,000 now in effect. Each of the three tracks would contribute $8,000 under the proposal.

The committee also heard Sen. Edward Turner D-Queen Annes submit a resolution asking approval of a new half-mile track to be built on Kent Island in Queen Anne's County.

In a roll call vote, Sen. Turner's proposal was turned down 7-2, with Sen. Louis Goldstein D-Calvert sustaining him.

The committee approved a recommendation withdrawing General Assembly approval for construction of a half-mile track at Pocomoke City. The Sybert committee reported that those who had asked permission to build the track should forfeit approval since no attempts have been made to get the project under way.

Oppose Recommendation
The committee found against a Sybert group recommendation that no single individual or group should be permitted to own more than 10 per cent of the stock of more than one track in Maryland.

The resolution, if approved and enacted into law by the General Assembly, would have affected the Schapiro family of Baltimore which owns considerable stock in Pimlico in addition to Laurel race track.

Navy Says No

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 24 (INS)—The invitation to Syracuse to play Alabama in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day came on the heels of a similar offer to Navy, which was promptly scuttled.

A terse navy statement said: "it is contrary to Navy's present policy to play post-season football games."

Singing Beauty Annexes Feature Event At Bowie

9,000 Persons Attend, $778,410 Is Wagered

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 24 (AP) — The winner of a stake, Mrs. S. M. Pistorio's Singing Beauty in the Barbara Fritchie Handicap, was overshadowed today by the mere fact the race and seven others were run at Bowie.

The track in the Southern Maryland pines at last got a break from the weather and staged a full dress week of trials and tribulations for Larry S. MacPhail after his inauguration as president of the track was spoiled last Monday.

The original opening day didn't get past the first two races. The jockeys said the completely new oval was unsafe and they hung up their tack until it was improved.

Postponed Three Times

MacPhail tore into the strip with machines and men. But they couldn't combat nature. Three times the ex-president of the New York Yankees scheduled a resumption. As many times he had to postpone it because of continuing rain.

The 62-year-old sports promoter's racing luck changed this sky blue Monday. A bright sun brought out the best of the two million dollars in improvements MacPhail had spent as representative of a syndicate which bought the 38-year-old track this year.

Slightly more than 9,000 spectators showed up.

The heavy going on the track was evident in the featured race. Singing Beauty led all the way and won by six lengths in 1:51 3/5 for the mile and sixteenth. The Bowie track record is 1:44 1/5.

Shuk Rides Winner

Jockey Nick Shuk took Singing Beauty out in front of eight other fillies and mares at the start and at a quarter of a mile had opened up a two-length lead. She gradually increased it without a threat to return $12.60 for $2.

Bowies still has 16 days and six races due. The postmenagements have put off the scheduled closing from Dec. 4 to Dec. 12 and the races lost last Monday may be run as ninth events during the meeting.

While the opening crowd was below expectations, it still exceeded last fall's corresponding Monday attendance of 6,321. The mutual machines also were busier, machines also were busier, ringing up $778,410 compared with $574,433.

Hilltoppers Accept

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Md., Nov. 24 (AP) — The Fort Leonard Wood Hilltoppers today accepted a bid to play Keesler Air Force Base in the Electronics Bowl at Biloxi, Miss., Dec. 7.

Star Korea-Bound

FRED WILLIAMS, former Boston Red Sox star outfielder and now a U.S. Marine Corps pilot, is bound for combat duty in Korea. It is announced at Cherry Point, N. C. He will report to El Toro, Calif., Naval Air Station Jan. 2 for shipment to the Far East where he will fly a F-9F Panther fighter jet. He was a pilot and instructor in World War II.

Cadets Believe Tech Would Beat U. S. C. Trojans

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Army football players and coaches believe Georgia Tech would beat Southern California if the two bowl-bound teams were paired this year, an Army assistant coach said today.

"Our two worst beatings were from Tech, who beat us 45-6, and Southern Cal, which beat us 22-0," Paul Aman, end coach and scout, told the New York Football Writers.

"Most of us felt Tech was the better team. Not much difference on defense. But Tech has a much more powerful offense."

Southern Cal will play Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl while Georgia Tech meets Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl. Both teams are unbeaten and untied.

Keyser Officials Drop Plan For Business Tax

Will Consider Funds For Gas Rate Fight

KEYSER—The Mayor and Council are reported to have abandoned the plan for a business and professional tax, according to the Mayor Chester J. Compton.

A week ago he announced that an ordinance would be drawn for such a tax and a public meeting would be held Tuesday evening.

In the meantime, when complaints were made by big and small business and professional men, the idea was withdrawn and the meeting cancelled, although the mayor did not make an announcement of the withdrawal of the plan and cancellation of the meeting until yesterday, when he told a few friends.

The mayor and council have taken up several plans for raising taxes and all have been set aside with the exception of a 25 cent tax on bicycles. This tax was passed and will be effective January 1.

At this evening's council meeting, methods will be discussed for raising funds to help defray the expense of fighting the proposed increase in rates asked by the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company.

W. E. Michael, chairman of the co-ordinating committee, has been asked to have a full attendance of his group present to enter the discussion. The committee is representative of the city in that it has two members from every organization in the city.

The committee that directed the circulating of petitions among the citizens of Keyser protesting the rate increase, is also expected to attend the meeting.

The city's share of carrying on the fight with other municipalities is placed at $3,600. The total fund is estimated to cost approximately $20,000.

Keyser DeMolay Initiation Set For Tomorrow

Program Director Is Paul T. Dayton

KEYSER — Potomac Valley Chapter, Order of DeMolay of Keyser, will initiate a class of four candidates at the regular meeting tomorrow evening in the Masonic Temple.

In the initiatory service, Paul T. Dayton, master councillor, of the chapter, will act as director. Others include, Charles Reeves Taylor, senior councillor and Joseph C. Swisher, junior councillor.

At the recent Mountaineer DeMolay Conclave at Jackson's Mill, W. Va., the Potomac Valley Chapter made a good impression, with the chapter receiving three honors in the appointment of Paul T. Dayton as orator of the conclave; Vernon A. Ryan, was named state preceptor and Gerald Grubb, seventh preceptor.

In the Mountaineer DeMolay Awards for sports activities, the Keyser chapter was awarded two prizes in winning the positions on the All Conclave Softball team with Vernon A. Ryan being awarded a gold softball, and James Robinson, receiving a silver softball for second place. William Parrill, of the local chapter, won $5 for third prize in an essay contest.

All of the DeMolay chapters in West Virginia competed in the various contests. The Potomac Valley chapter has the second highest number of members registered at the time of the Jackson's Mill conclave. Wheeling had the largest number of members.

Whatver initial prices might be posted by the canners, he said, might go up or down later on, depending on various market factors.

Moore was asked by government counsel about identical price lists announced by the five respondent processors within a few days after the Aug. 26 meeting, lists giving the top price at $3.25 per hundred.

Moore said that in the apple trade when one processor announces a price list others in the area usually announce virtually similar prices immediately.

At one point Moore testified that the president of the National Fruit Products Co., Inc., of Winchester, one of the five processors involved in the case, told him that his company borrowed two million dollars in 1950 to finance the purchase and processing of apples over and above what it originally intended.

In this connection Wilkie Hunt, vice president of the company, told a reporter his testimony on this point last Friday had been misquoted by The Associated Press.

Hunt said he testified that because of the supply situation and to maintain grower good will his company decided "to go out on a limb" and borrow two million dollars to buy and process more apples. His company arranged the financing, Hunt said, and bought additional apples but lost money on the deal. Hunt did not testify that his company lost the entire two million.

The name of U. S. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) figured in the hearing in a minor way today. Examiner Hier mentioned it in asking counsel for information on membership in Appalachian Apple Service. Attorneys told him that while in some states individual growers were members of the association this was not the case in Virginia. In Virginia, they said, a State Apple Commission collects a tax on packaged apples and contributes to the support of the association. Individual growers do not.

Hier then asked government counsel if they contended, for instance, that Sen. Byrd was a member of the association and was subject to a "cease and desist" order by the commission.

Commission Attorney L. S. Miller said the government position was that such an order would apply only to those who participated in the alleged price fixing agreement and also benefited from it. Respondent companies include

Va. Apple Grower Denies Price Fix With Processors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (AP)—A prominent Virginia apple grower and speaker of the Virginia House of Delegates — testified at a growers and apple processors in 1950 as alleged by the government.

The witness, E. Blackburn Moore, Berryville, Va., apple grower and speaker of the Virginia House of Representatives—testified at a hearing before Federal Trade Commission Examiner Frank Hier.

The case involves a complaint by the commission staff that five processing firms and the Appalachian Apple Service, Inc., an association of growers, engaged in unfair practices by agreeing in 1950 on a price for apples in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Moore said he was one of a six member apple growers committee which met with processors on Aug. 26, 1950, at Martinsburg, W. Va., following an apple marketing clinic. He said the two groups discussed many phases of the apple industry including price.

Prior to the meeting the growers had adopted a resolutions expressing the hops they could get at least $3.55 a hundred pounds, he said.

Moore said he could not recall all that was said at the meeting but admitted under questioning he heard $3 and $3.50 mentioned.

But, he said, there was no agreement on understanding on price. "Was there any question in your mind but that the top price would be $3.25," Moore was asked by government counsel.

"Yes," Moore answered, "there was nothing definite on price."

In fact, he said, he never considered any price mentioned by a processor as firm unless an offer was formally made.

Moore, who gave several discourses on the apple business during the two hours he was on the stand, said that since there is a gap in the apple supply from one winter until the next fall a new price must be posted each fall.

Therefore, he said, growers and canners meet to discuss the situation.

Whatever initial prices might be posted by the canners, he said, might go up or down later on, depending on various market factors.

Moore was asked by government counsel about identical price lists announced by the five respondent processors within a few days after the Aug. 26 meeting, lists giving the top price at $3.25 per hundred.

Moore said that in the apple trade when one processor announces a price list others in the area usually announce virtually similar prices immediately.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24 (INS)—The United States to continue his "A Man Called Peter," the life of the late Peter Marshall, chaplain of the United States Senate, has been bought by 20th Century Fox. Mrs. Marshall wrote the book after her husband's death and although it was very slow getting started, now it's high on the list of non-fiction favorites.

Marshall, a handsome young man in Scotland, was walking in the dark when he heard a voice call "Peter." In another second he would have fallen into an abandoned quarry and to certain death. He felt that divine power had kept him from the fall, so he devoted himself to religion. He came to work until he died in 1949. Sam Engel, who will produce the story, has chosen Richard Burton, the British actor, to play Peter, while Jean Peters will be seen as Katherine (Mrs. Marshall).

There have been so many rumors that Stanley Kramer is leaving Columbia to go to RKO that I checked headquarters. Kramer has 17 months on his contract with Columbia, with options, so he isn't going anywhere. Right now he is in New York and Washington arranging for the production of "Caine Mutiny."

Incidentally, "Member of the Wedding" will be shown before the first of the year to qualify for Academy consideration. Scuttlebutt is that Julie Harris may very well be high on the list of nominees when voting time comes around.

I love Marie Wilson's comment when she was chosen Miss Venus by a physical culture organization. "I understand the physical," said Marie, "but what's this about culture?"

If Marie can be free from other movie commitments — TV, radio, etc.—next year, MGM will make a try at borrowing her for a Red Skelton picture. Marie and Red in one picture would be a sellout in any theatre.

Michael Wilding is down with a case of pleurisy and Liz Taylor is doing her wifely duties by nursing him.

At this moment Rock Hudson would just as soon spend the rest of his life playing drawing room pictures. He's hobbling around on a badly banged up left foot, after a horse stepped on him.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

You may think there's little connection between your sacroiliac and your facial beauty — but if you have a pain in your back, it's sure to show in your face!

Of course, there are all manner of back problems but a large number of backaches are due simply to poor posture. That's another way of saying that when your back hurts — it may be your own fault!

Freedom From Backache
Standing or walking always imposes some strain on your body and it's the small of your back, the sacroiliac region, that bears the brunt. When you stand improperly, strain is increased eventually to the point where the muscles and spine let you hear about it in the only language they have—pain.

Strain and abuse can easily be avoided. All you have to do is habitually stand in what physical education authorities call the pelvic tilt" position. It's the natural and proper position for human beings to assume. Only bad habits can cause your body to forget it.

To restrain yourself, stand with your back against a wall, feet together and knees slightly flexed. Then, pull your hips down under you (think of a puppy pulling his tail between his legs). Retract your abdomen until your back is flat or nearly so against the wall. When you do it right, you'll be able to feel your pelvic bones tilt upward from one to two inches.

Now, holding the position, walk away from the wall. Perform this routine many times daily, trying to increase the length of time that you can hold the tilt without incurring undue strain.

Multiple Benefits

You'll gain your goal more quickly if you also repeat this exercise twenty times daily: Lie flat on your back on the floor and bend both knees so your feet just rest on it. Press the small of your back down until the space between it and the floor is eliminated. Hold for a slow count of ten and relax.

Eventually, through these practices, you will unconsciously assume the pelvic tilt whenever you are on your feet. Besides relief from backache, your walk will grow more graceful, your hips will get smaller — and there'll be fewer furrows in your brow. # Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

WHAT IS A GRAND COUP?
KNOWLEDGE of bridge nomenclature is not important to your success at the bridge table. But it enables you the better to hold your own in conversations with those who are well-versed in the standard terms. One expression you often hear misused is "Grand Coup." When you shorten your trumps by ruffing, so you may later capture the trumps of a defender, the play bears the recognized name of "Trump Coup." If one or more of the cards ruffed would have been a winner if not ruffed, then the term "Grand Coup" is applied to it.

South's good bidding, with two aces of diamonds before showing clubs, indicated at least six cards in the first suit and only four in the second. So North's preference for diamonds with two cards soundly preferred eight trumps for the pair to the seven it would have had in clubs, where he held three cards.

It looked like a laydown to South after West led the spade 4.

with apparently no loser except in hearts. But after the spade K on that trick drew the A, the laying down of the diamond A and K brought a spade discard from West, disclosing the need for special measures to shut East out of a trump trick. A coup was necessary, to keep South from having to lead a trump to East at the end. This meant shortening his own trumps to the same length as East's, by using one for ruffing.

South next gave up the heart K to the A, won the club 10 return with the A, scored the heart Q and led the 8 to the 10. Now he was ready for the trump coup. He led the spade 10. East covered with the J and the diamond 8 ruffed the trick, cutting South's own trumps to two. He led the club 8 to the Q, used the spade Q to discard the club 4, discarded the club J on the heart J, then led the spade 7. East had to play from the diamond J-6 before South the last two tricks.

record 45-cents-an-hour wage in United Mine Workers shortly before the 1948 campaign year. Some critics said he was trying to swing the miners over to the GOP.
One of the first things new Attorney General Brownell will have to do is handle an anti-trust suit involving one of his cabinet colleagues—Charles E. Wilson. It's the huge monopoly suit against the duPonts, also involving General Motors and U. S. Rubber . . . .
Organized labor now sings the praises of new Defense Secretary Wilson. His escalator, cost-of-living contract with the United Auto Workers not only made history but increased the prestige of U. S. labor-management relations around the world . . . . Senator

Cabot Lodge, Ike's original campaign manager, wasn't unhappy about not being secretary of Defense. He and Eisenhower both felt that he lacked executive experience, was better suited to be a roving ambassador or a Harry Hopkins . . . . John Foster Dulles will change his office in the State Department. Despite McCarthy's charges, most State Department officials have long been Republican career men.
Reclamation Or Balanced Budget?
New Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, now governor of Oregon, will have a tough problem dumped into his lap right after he takes office Jan. 20.
In the Truman budget being sent to Congress just a few days before, there will be listed a large number of important reclamation and water-power projects of vital importance to the far West.
This is the type of project which McKay, as governor of Oregon, has favored. For on the whole he has been an advocate of public power, irrigation, and reclamation. Yet, as a member of the Eisenhower cabinet pledged to cut the budget, he may be called upon to cut these important Western projects.
The program which retiring Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman is taking pains to put in the budget includes:
The Klamath River project, which rises in Oregon and whose

Matter Of Fact

more difficult. Every inflammation has grown more inflamed, every tangle has become more tangled. Thus leadership, bold, generous, constructive and imaginative, is now the great commodity that President Eisenhower must supply. If he fails the West in this respect, one can foresee catastrophe from the mere smell of the air in Paris. But if he succeeds, the air will clear soon enough, and we may hope for a really better world as well as a happier Franco-American understanding.

New Fire Truck Is Ordered For S. Cumberland

Ahrens-Fox Pumper To Cost $15,354

The city ordered a new fire truck for South Cumberland yesterday. The action was taken when the Mayor and Council accepted the Ahrens-Fox Company's $15,354.18 bid for a 750 gallon pumper to be used by South End Fire Company.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long, who proposed the order, said the new truck is badly needed.

Since funds to purchase the equipment are not available in the present budget, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan suggested the order be placed subject to future delivery and method of payment.

To Give Deposit
The fire truck is one of the items included in a bond issue to be proposed by the Mayor and Council at the 1953 General Assembly.

The city auditor was instructed to issue a check for $7,150 to the government as a deposit in federal condemnation proceedings of the Robert Frazee property in Ridgeley, needed for the flood control project.

A petition signed by six residents of the 700 block Fairmont Avenue asked action on a clogged ditch which is damaging property in that area.

Gives Estimate
C. R. Nuzum, cost engineer, estimated the would cost $53,214.05 to extend North George Street to Bedford Street. The project has been suggested to eliminate objections to making Frederick Street a north bound part of Route 220. The assessed value of the property needed, he added, is $32,384.

The Mayor and Council referred to the police and fire commissioner a request of the Cumberland Auxiliary Police for assistance in the purchase of an $1,850 jeep for its rescue squad.

Arthur B. Gibson, city CD director, said he believes the Civil Defense organization can give $100 toward the project which will strengthen the county CD system.

City Stands Pat On License Issue

A charge that "Cumberland is too critical of petty gambling" failed to cause the Mayor and Council to reconsider its unanimous rejection of the application of a local man to operate a pool room at 164 Baltimore Street.

The criticism was voiced yesterday by Lorraine Eisenberg, agent and part owner of the building, after the city turned down the application of Walter Oglebay upon the recommendation of Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long, who cited adverse reports made by Lt. James E. Van and Police Chief R. E. Flynn.

Eisenberg said the building rents for $150 a month, the location is not good and that owners "could not be too choosy about tenants or the type of business."

There are a lot of empty rooms on Baltimore Street, he said, adding "Cumberland is too critical of petty gambling" and that people like to take a chance and "it stimulates business."

He declared the city should take a realistic rather than idealistic view, adding there are "no Al Capones here" but "just a few petty gamblers."

"If the place gets too sanctified," he declared, "it's not good for business."

He also called upon the city to "stop these charity raffles," saying "big gambling is going on under the name of charity and the city is doing nothing about it."

The police commissioner told him if he knew of raffles and had a complaint, to bring his complaint in.

Weather

The city yesterday was blessed with the kind of fall weather the travel folders always advertise: warm and sunny, with hardly a cloud marring the blue sky overhead. But the Weather Bureau, which has been calling its shots rather well in recent days, had gloomy news. Today is expected to be cloudy and continued warm, with probable rain this afternoon.

Yesterday's official high temperature was 57, the low, 41. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 58 per cent.

Memorial Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Corbin, 109 Wills Creek Avenue, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oras Morlen, Wilsey Ford, a daughter yesterday.

Seek Club License
Joseph J. Spinetta, Shelton L. Carver and Joseph S. Johnson yesterday filed an application with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners for a beer, wine and liquor license for the South End Democrat Club at 429 Virginia Avenue.

DIES IN GERMANY—The body of Captain Thomas F. Winters, 37, of Frostburg, who died recently in Germany, will arrive in Cumberland at 11:40 a. m. today aboard Baltimore and Ohio Train No. 11. Frostburg veterans' groups will escort the body to Hafer Funeral Home in Frostburg. Capt. Winters, a World War II veteran, was recalled to duty with the Army Reserve after the outbreak of the Korean war.

Airplane Is Missing Over W. Virginia

Civil Aeronautics Authority of officers and West Virginia State Police yesterday were trying to locate a light plane which has been missing since 4 p. m. Sunday.

State Police at Romney said they were notified that the ship left Reading, Pa., at 2:12 p. m. Sunday, bound for Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

The pilot's flight plan showed a gas stop at Charleston, W. Va., but the low-wing, single-engine Navion never landed there. State Police said the plane was last heard from in the vicinity of Martinsburg, W. Va., at 4 p. m. Sunday.

It was not known last night how many persons were aboard the ship, but State Police said the pilot's last name was listed as Schois.

No search parties have been sent out, as police said they had received no reports of a plane crash or of a plane in distress.

Police theorized that the pilot might have been forced by bad weather to deviate from his flight plan and neglected to notify CAA authorities.

Authorities asked that anyone who believes he may have any information on the missing plane notify West Virginia or Maryland State Police.

City Will Get Bridge Plans

Preliminary plans and estimated costs of new bridges across Willis Creek at Valley, Market and Baltimore Streets will be handed to city officials by January 23.

R. A. Gilmore, of the J. E. Greiner Company, Baltimore consulting engineers, has informed the Mayor and Council he plans to deliver the preliminary plans and detailed estimates of the spans on or before that date.

The Corps of Engineers asked the city to secure preliminary plans for the bridge so it can complete plans for channel improvements.

Actual construction of the new spans will be several years off, since the next phase, slated early next spring, is the construction of a new industrial dam in the Potomac and the new span to replace the Blue Bridge.

Thanksgiving Dance Planned By Legion
Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion are planning a Thanksgiving night dance at the post home in Ridgeley for the benefit of the Child Welfare Christmas basket fund.

Admission per person will be three cans of food, or five pounds of sugar or five pounds of flour, according to William C. Knierni, chairman. Music for the dance will be furnished by the Helen Pettie Trio and the affair will begin at 9 p. m. Weekly movies are being held each Wednesday at nine p. m. for the Christmas baskets for needy families of Ridgeley. Last year, Knierni added, from 25 to 30 baskets were distributed. Commander Robert E. Zimmermann last night said a regular meeting of the post's executive committee will be held today at 8 p. m.

Final Chest Report Slated Today At 6 P. M. In YMCA

A last-minute appeal to contributors of Cumberland to put the 1952 Community Chest campaign "over the top" was made last night by William H. Buchholz, chairman.

At 6 p. m. today a final report meeting will be held at Central YMCA. Through a bulletin, Buchholz appealed to each worker to contact everyone and bring in as much money as possible.

In his bulletin, Buchholz remarked that during the past year Cumberland has been developing a progressive program of community, social and economic betterment.

The realization of the goal, which has been set at $105,977.76 this year, will boost that program along, Buchholz added, or let it bog down. With "everyone pitching in," he noted, the drive will be successful.

Some Scheduled Wednesday Evening

A number of churches in the Tri-State area are planning Thanksgiving services either Wednesday evening or Thursday morning.

The Living Stone Church of the Brethren will hold its annual Thanksgiving service at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor, will preach on the subject, "The Thankful Minority."

At Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Rev. Louis H. Ewald, rector, will have a Holy Communion at 10 a. m. Thanksgiving Day.

Rev. Raymond Crowe, pastor of the Rawlings Methodist Circuit has arranged two services. He will conduct a service at the Cresaptown Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday and at the Dawson Methodist Church at 10 a. m. Thursday. The topic for both services will be "Our National Festival."

A Thanksgiving service will be held this evening in the Fort Ashby Presbyterian Church. There will be singing of Thanksgiving hymns, a Thanksgiving thought and a film strip entitled "Let Us Give Thanks."

This service will begin at 7:30 o'clock this evening and all who are truly thankful for life and the promises of God are invited.

In Springfield, W. Va., the community Thanksgiving service will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the Presbyterian Church. The combined choirs of both churches will participate and a film strip, "Let Us Give Thanks," will be shown.

Hearing Planned On Fluoridation
The Mayor and Council will arrange a public meeting on fluoridation of the city's water supply this week.

Mayor Roy W. Eves promised the meeting after George Tederick, former water commissioner, opposed the plan during a meeting of the city officials, Board of Health and the Fluoridation committee of the Allegany-Garrett Dental Society.

Resolutions calling for fluoridation have been presented the city by the Dental Society and the Board of Health.

Tederick charged the city officials were going into Monday's council meeting with closed minds to pass a fluoridation ordinance. He added he had much material he would like to present at a public hearing.

Dr. Albert C. Eskin, a member of the dental committee, cited the 47 per cent decrease in tooth decay in Newburg, N. Y., in the five years its water has been fluoridated. He also pointed to a resolution from Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, urging fluoridation.

Same Fire Call Number Urged
BALTIMORE, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Maryland Fire Chiefs Association, in their annual conference here today, called for a uniform number throughout the state for citizens to dial in telephoning in a report of a fire.

The chiefs discussed the possibility of trying to persuade telephone companies to adopt some easily remembered, easily dialed number, such as 111.

The association also resolved to ask the General Assembly to provide state compensation for volunteer firemen who have joined regular departments as a Civil Defense measure.

William J. Perry, Bladensburg chief, was re-elected president of the association. Other officers re-elected were Erman O. Dill, Earl Leigh Heights chief, vice president; Charles Burton, Landover Hill chief, secretary; and Herman M. Dill, Hillendale chief, treasurer.

City Hall will close Thursday in observation of Thanksgiving Day. Parking meters brought in $547.47 the week of November 16 and $543.78 the week of November 9.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long was authorized to advertise for "Don't Walk" signs to be attached to Baltimore Street traffic lights.

Salvation Army To Name Officers
Officers of the Salvation Army Advisory Board for the 1953 year will be elected at the board meeting at 12:15 p. m. Friday at Sheehee's Restaurant.

Seven members for a three-year term also will be named to the board following a report of the nominating committee.

At 7:30 p. m. Friday, the Christmas committee will meet at the Citadel on North Mechanic Street. Organizations in the city and the Cumberland area have been invited to send representatives to the meeting.

Coach To Crown Camper Queen At Pep Meeting
Football Coach Roy Lester will crown the Allegany High School Camper Queen as one of the features of the pep meeting at 12:15 p. m. Wednesday in the school gymnasium.

This pep meeting will occupy the last period before the pupils begin their four-and-one-half day Thanksgiving holiday. They will not return to classes until Monday morning.

Miss Eleanor Rizer, girls' physical education instructor, has advised the students in preparation of the pep meeting.

As the students crowd into the gymnasium they will receive mimeographed sheets of the school cheers. The students all will join in as S. Lusa Sykes directs the Allegany band in "The Allegany" to mark the opening of the pep meeting leading up to the traditional Thanksgiving Day game with Fort Hill.

Two decorated goal posts will be held by members of the band during the game.

Several Stunts Planned Wednesday
As one of the pep meeting stunts two large "applause meters" have been rigged up and will be operated by teachers inside of them. At the meter controls will be Mrs. Ethel C. Bruce and Miss Betsy Ross Rankin. Another stunt will feature large soapboxes prepared by members of the Art Club.

Then will come two long-awaited announcements. The majorettes will name their mascot for the "Turkey Day" game. Jo Ann Walker will introduce the Camper Queen and her attendants. Coach Lester will officiate at the crowning of a queen, who was selected by vote of the football players.

WAR VICTIM—The body of a former Cumberlander, Pfc. Thomas S. Short, 22, who was killed April 25 last year in Korea will arrive here tomorrow and taken to the George Funeral Home. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Short, 1625 Patterson Park Avenue, Baltimore, formerly of 930 Gay Street. His widow, Mrs. Dolores A. Smith Short, resides in Dayton, Ohio.

3 Men Shot Fox Hunting In Garrett

Three Garrett County hunters were injured last night when they walked into a fusillade of shotgun fire from two other hunters who mistook their dog for a fox.

Sheriff Paul W. Fisher said the injured were Thayer Sanders, Oakland, and Andrew and Charles Shaffer, brothers, of Hutton. All were treated at Garrett Memorial Hospital in Oakland, but none was seriously hurt.

Fisher said Sanders and the Shaffer brothers were hunting for raccoons and foxes near the Lone Wolf cabin at Herrington Manor State Park when the accident happened.

Two other hunters, Enclil Park and his son William, were walking toward the Shaffers and Sanders along an old logging trail.

A hound being used by the Shaffer-Sanders party suddenly stepped into the trail from the brush, not 50 yards from the Parks. The Parks, catching the dog in the glare of their carbide cap-lamps, thought the animal was a fox and blazed away.

Several pellets hit the Shaffer brothers and Sanders, who were walking behind the dog, out of range of the lights.

Sheriff Fisher said Charles Shaffer was most seriously hurt, with 30 pellets in his legs and abdomen. He did not, however, require hospitalization. Sanders drove the Shaffers to the Oakland hospital.

Fisher said he will continue to investigate the shooting.

Snow Removal Ordinance To Be Studied

Would Curb Parking In Downtown Area

A proposed ordinance to regulate parking in the downtown area to facilitate snow removal was tabled by the Mayor and Council until next Monday to allow further study.

Copies of the suggested ordinance will be given to city officials today.

The ordinance provided that from November 15 to March 31, when two or more inches of snow falls in 24 hours, it shall be unlawful to park, except to load and unload, between 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. on any street bounded roughly by Market Street, Williams Street, the B. and O. tracks and Willis Creek.

Illegally parked vehicles may be removed or towed away by police officers under Ordinance 1458.

A fine of from $5 to $25 is set for each conviction of illegal parking during the snow removal hours.

The ordinance is part of a Street Department plan for speedy removal of snow from this city.

Routine action of the Mayor and Council yesterday included:

The city ordered $100 to be given to the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association for Christmas seals, with funds to come from the Movie Charity Fund.

City Hall will close Thursday in observation of Thanksgiving Day. Parking meters brought in $547.47 the week of November 16 and $543.78 the week of November 9.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long was authorized to advertise for "Don't Walk" signs to be attached to Baltimore Street traffic lights.

At 7:30 p. m. Friday, the Christmas committee will meet at the Citadel on North Mechanic Street. Organizations in the city and the Cumberland area have been invited to send representatives to the meeting.

Several Stunts
As one of the pep meeting stunts two large "applause meters" have been rigged up and will be operated by teachers inside of them. At the meter controls will be Mrs. Ethel C. Bruce and Miss Betsy Ross Rankin. Another stunt will feature large soapboxes prepared by members of the Art Club.

Then will come two long-awaited announcements. The majorettes will name their mascot for the "Turkey Day" game. Jo Ann Walker will introduce the Camper Queen and her attendants. Coach Lester will officiate at the crowning of a queen, who was selected by vote of the football players.

Brief talks then will be given by Coach Lester, Assistant Coach James Hosack and the team co-captains, Center Joe Nave and Left End Ralph Shaffer.

After another selection by the band the meeting will close with a number of cheers. The "applause meter" will be read after each yell.

The day's activities for the traditional game will close with a bon fire at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday.

The Boys Hi-Y Club is assisting the cheerleaders in preparing the float which will carry the Camper Queen and her attendants at the Thanksgiving game.

Street Commissioner Charges Mayor Promotes Disharmony

Court Action Is Urged By Mrs. Roeder

Seeks Ruling On Duties of Mayor

Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder recommended legal counsel or court action to determine duties of the Mayor in various city departments in accusing Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday of preventing harmony among the elected representatives.

She also charged Eves with "railroading" his measures through.

Mrs. Roeder, who had not heretofore joined in the exchange of words between Eves and Commissioner John J. Long, said she felt she must state what she had heard to this point "seems to be the extent to which you as Mayor can override the decisions of a commissioner and interfere with the orderly administration of a department."

She said this is a serious matter to her since she has one of the most diversified departments (streets and public property) at City Hall.

Cites Purge Attempt
The question between Eves and Long came about after charges that morale is down and efficiency affected by Long's countermanding council orders in the Police Department.

Under this, Mrs. Roeder said: "The underlying motive in Mayor Eves' activity in relation to the Police Department seems to be directed at purging, ousting or causing the resignation of Mr. Long. If you get Mr. Long out, who will you put in his place, Mayor Eves?"

And she added: "If the voting of the council continues as it has in the past, it will not be hard for you to show a three to two majority, thus accomplishing your aims, be they good or bad."

Mrs. Roeder's statement follows: "Under the city charter, we have a commission form of government. Each commissioner is responsible for the administration of the department assigned to him. For its success or failure, he is answerable to the people of Cumberland."

"The reason I sought re-election last year was to complete the program that I began in the Street Department over two years ago. The projects then begun are now being pushed as rapidly as possible. To complete these and begin others equally pressing, I cannot have interference."

Right To Be Heard
"I recognize the right of the Mayor and Council to override any commissioner by order if done in the American way. This is only proper. However, I insist upon the right of every member of the council to be heard, to participate freely in the discussion of any meeting of business which comes before the council, to have open and free debate. These are fundamentals of parliamentary law."

"This is not the case in this City Council."

"According to Rule 30, chapter 20 of the Code, 'Reports of Commissioners' is number five on the agenda of all council meetings. In this council, if a council member attempts to exercise this right to give a report which Mayor Eves has not been briefed on or does not agree with, the council member is met with reproach from the Mayor either then or later through a statement to the press."

"Then according to the Roberts Rules of Order after a motion is made and seconded, members of council are to be granted time to 'debate a question before final action is taken' unless by a two-thirds vote the council decides to dispose of them without debate. In our council meetings, Mayor Eves does not ask for a discussion—council members can debate motions if they hurriedly insist on doing so."

"Dictator" Charge Not Funny
"Early in his administration, I told Mayor Eves that I felt he was a 'dictator,' and he thought this was very funny, but as time goes on, it has ceased to be very funny to me."

"Under the city charter my duty is to the citizens, and it is to them I am responsible. In my mind I must do a credible job and I cannot do that job if on every turn I am thwarted by interference from someone who has not spent two years of constant study in a department as I have. Mayor Eves believes that he has executive control over each department of the city. Under our charter we have a commission form of government."

If the Mayor is to run each department (which he is not permitted to do by law), then the taxpayers are paying salaries to four public servants who are positively unnecessary and they should do something about it."

"Mayor Eves has upheld Mr. Berry in his accusation of Mr. Long that there is lack of morale in the Police Department. Is there one among us who cannot place an accusing finger on the mayor for lack of morale in the City Council? The mayor calls for harmony, he fears for the future of the city, and for the great expenditure of the city for the recent exposition, he calls on us to come to the conference table—but I want to say here

Eves Notes Unanimous Vote Record

Says Exchange With Long Not Controversy

Mayor Roy W. Eves declared yesterday that all but four of the 367 actions taken by the present city administration have been approved unanimously.

The extemporaneous statement was made in answer to Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, who charged the mayor with blocking harmony in the council at yesterday's session.

Eves added: "I know of no administration which can equal that."

Prior to Mrs. Roeder's remarks, Commissioner John J. Long gave an accounting of his administration which had been asked by the Mayor.

Eves said he was glad "we have two perfect commissioners, and I'm awfully glad they admit it although I don't know who else does."

When the two commissioners finished their statements Eves said, "this is news to me. These have been sprung at this meeting. I have had no chance for personal and no opportunity for rebuttal."

But the Mayor added he wanted to make clear that his exchange with Long the past three weeks is "not a controversy." If she (Mrs. Roeder) wants to "take up the cudgel for Mr. Long, that's all right with me," he added.

Eves continued he asked Long for an accounting of this administration, not the previous one, and added, "that is missing from the reply."
